

Best Available Copy

DE 7828842 U1

ABSTRACT

BEARING OF A BALANCING MACHINE

The invention relates to a bearing for rotors on bearing bridges of a balancing machine, each one of the bearing bridges comprising a supporting surface for a running pin of the rotor to be balanced. A device for axially bearing the rotor is provided having air pressure nozzles that are arranged on opposite sides of the rotor for blowing air in axial direction at the rotor.